

A home away from home...

It's always a bonus when I find the perfect place to stay during my travels. I do research what's available on the internet or through travel guides and try to select lodgings based on location and amenities. The Esperanza Inn is the perfect home away from home. Right outside our door, pictured to the right, was a lovely and comfortable sitting area. Another sitting area was in the back of the inn with a pool with a sunbathing deck and chairs. Stairs led all the way up to the 4th story roof where we had a beautiful view of the Esperanza beach by day and a grand place to star gaze in the evening. Esperanza Inn also offers a public space featuring a great room with comfortable seating, a TV and DVD player, lots of movies to choose from and a book shelf full of books to exchange. There was a fully functional kitchen, a dining area, a computer, and laundry facilities as well. Everything we could possibly need was available to us. Added to that were our hosts, Lisa and J, who love their Vieques home, and couldn't have been more welcoming and knowledgeable about everything their island had to offer.
